Central Skagit Library District Memorials and Naming Policy March 18, 2021 (Final)

Purpose

This policy outlines the principles and guidelines for naming Library properties, programs, and facilities in honor of persons or entities that have made important contributions to the mission of the Library District.

Authority

The Library Board of Trustees, hereinafter referred to as Trustees, retain the sole authority for naming Library District properties, programs, and facilities, including both interior and exterior space. In the event a property is owned or co-owned by a city or other entity, the Board will work with the city or entity to find a satisfactory name. This authority may not be redelegated.

Definitions

Library Elements: Library elements (i.e. identifiable spaces such as rooms, programmatic areas, and outdoor spaces).

Library Facilities: a building (interior or exterior spaces, including the parking area and grounds), equipment, programs, or services provided by the Library District in fulfillment of its mission.

Library Programs: services or events provided by the Library District, including information resources, to meet the needs of patrons.

Library Property: is owned, co-owned, or leased in order to fulfill the Library District mission.

Significant Contribution: money, securities, real or personal property, or contributions of service(s) that represent a major percentage of the cost of the portion of the facility named or represent a significant donation to the Central Skagit Library District.

Policy

Board of Trustees Right to Revoke. The Trustees retain the right to revoke or rename a Library property, facility, or program at its discretion.

Library Locations. Names for Library locations will reflect the geographic area served as a branch of the Central Skagit Library District. This identification assists library patrons with seeking nearby Library locations.

Library Elements. Library elements are available for naming. These spaces may be named for a significant donor or in recognition of a significant contribution to the Library Mission. Elements that cannot be named include specific pieces of furniture, equipment, or shelving, however, art installations and exterior benches may reflect the name(s) of donor(s) and memorials.

Naming Criteria.

- A donor (individual(s) or organization) who makes a significant contribution to a facility's construction, renovation, landscaping, equipment, furnishing, or programmatic costs may request for consideration a named element as described above. Memorial designations will be considered (i.e. "In Memory of").

- The Library District may recognize the exemplary service and/or support to the Library District by an organization who has contributed to the Library District in an important capacity that warrants recognition of their exceptional contributions to the welfare of the Library.
- The Library District may recognize the exemplary service and/or support to the Library District by one or more individuals who have served the Library District in an important capacity that warrants recognition of their exceptional contributions to the welfare of the Library District.
 - Proposals of recognition for service or support by an individual are subject to a 2-year waiting period after separation or retirement from service to the Library District.
 - The death of the honoree does not affect the 2-year waiting period.
 - The Trustees, in unusual circumstances and at its discretion, may waive the waiting period.

Monetary Donations. A donor may choose to recommend to the Trustees that the donor's contribution be recognized by naming a Library facility or element, such as an interior or exterior space, collection, etc., for a person or persons whom the donor wishes to honor.

- In reviewing a request for approval of naming for a donor or for a person whose name is proposed by a donor, consideration shall be given to:
 - The eminence, reputation, and integrity of the individual or entity whose name is proposed; and
 - The relationship of the individual or entity to the Library; and
 - The significance of the proposed gift as it relates to the realization and/or success of the project or to the enhancement of the project's usefulness to the Library; and
 - The urgency of need for the project or for support funds for the project.
- The gift shall constitute a significant portion of the total cost of the project to be named. The gift shall either (1) fund the total cost of the project, or (2) provide substantial funding for that portion of the total cost that would not have been available from any other source
- To avoid any appearance of commercial influence or conflict of interest, due diligence should be taken before recommending the naming that involves the name of a corporation or a corporate foundation. The naming for an individual associated with a corporation should be handled as any naming for an individual.
- Corporate names may be used to designate individual rooms, suites of rooms, exterior spaces or other such opportunities available for naming. Plaques in public places within buildings may recognize the contributions of corporations. The size, design, and wording of plaques and other signs that acknowledge corporate generosity and express Library and Community appreciation should be modest and exclude corporate logos or trademarks to avoid the appearance of advertising.
- A naming conferred in recognition of a pledge is contingent on fulfillment of that pledge and will be approved on that condition.
- When a proposed naming for an individual is accompanied by a gift, and the individual to be honored is serving the Library in an official or unofficial capacity, or is serving the community, state, or nation in an elected or appointed position, the naming may take effect upon approval.

Naming Term of Life and Renaming. The Library Board retains the right to revoke or rename any Library facility.

- Names are retained for the useful life of the area, program, or collection.
- In the event a named space is removed or repurposed, the Library will make every effort to inform original donors, honorees, or family members of the change.
- In the event of reconfiguration of a named space, program, or collection, the Library will consult with the donor on placement of the signage.
- In the event a donor corporation ceases business operations, is purchased or merged, the name may be removed after one year.

Design standards for naming plates. Naming plates will be durable and consistent with the design of the building. Naming plates for corporations will be modest and exclude company logos or trademarks.

Administrative Procedure

The Library Director will develop an appropriate Naming Request Form which enables a donor, individual, organization, or group to request a name or memorial plaque.

Procedure.

- Donors may request a named Library element by submitting the appropriate form to the Library Director
- Individuals, organizations, or groups may nominate/request a person, persons, or an organization (i.e. honoree) for a named Library element by submitting the appropriate form to the Library Director.
- The Library Director will place the request on the next agenda of the "Trustees" to explore.
- The "Trustees" may appoint a committee to study the request. No decision will occur at the first hearing of the request.
- At the following "Trustee"s meeting, the "Trustees" may move to Narrow or Decide the request.
- If the "Trustees" approves the request, the Library Director will arrange for the donation and coordinate the construction or program improvement as appropriate.
- The Library Director will order the plaque and have it installed.
- The Library Director will keep records of all naming requests and maintain a history of all named Library elements.

April 2021 Director's Report

As of 4/12/2021

My activities this month have centered around getting settled into the library and working on getting the maintenance schedules in place with the city of Sedro-Woolley and the contractors that we will work directly with.

Shelving continues to be an issue as parts trickle in to the Workpointe warehouse.

I have also been working on the Meeting Room and Art Donation policy and spending time reading best practices provided by the American Library Association and studying some caselaw involving suits against libraries.

The staff are hard at work getting the new website ready to launch in May. I have been working on getting Google Analytics and Google Tag Manager adjusted so that we can drill down farther into how our website is used. I am also getting training on how to implement Google Analytics and Tag Manager on our new site.

I have staged all of the surplus furniture and equipment at the Ball Street location and will be submitting the resale documents to Department of Enterprise Services once I have an understanding of when our shelving will be complete. There are 10 browsing bins that we are temporarily using to hold books while we wait for the shelving. I would prefer to submit everything together rather than breaking the surplus list into two. However, if the shelving won't be complete within the next two weeks, I will separate the requests.

This week I will be getting all of the laptops and patron computer stations ready for our IT consultant to log in and do any final configurations on the new stations. Stations that moved from Ball Street are already configured. Laptops and new computers will require some further configuration that I will need to work on with our PC management system vendor.

Donations of Art, Historical and Decorative Objects Policy

The Library Board of Trustees encourages donations to the Library which will further the mission of the library. The library acknowledges the great importance of art to the Library's future growth and development. It also acknowledges that art contributes to community building, education, recreation and personal growth.

Statement on Donations

All donations are managed in accordance with the Library's policies and must be consistent with the library's mission, goals and objectives. The Library retains unconditional ownership of all donations and makes the final decision on acceptance, use, disposition or disposal.

Criteria for accepting gifts:

The following points must be considered before accepting a donation of this kind:

1. Compatibility with the general architecture of the building
2. Appropriate fit for the space available
3. Alignment with mission, goals and character of the public library
4. Cost in accepting the gift, including insurance, security, restoration, display, maintenance, and storage
5. Original in creation by a recognized artist or community member
6. Artwork must be durable, sound, non-hazardous, and maintainable in terms of the nature of the materials. Extremely fragile items or those that are potential targets for vandalism are not appropriate for the library setting

Types of Works Considered

The Library will consider for acceptance as donations such pieces as paintings, sculpture, wall hangings, photographs, and other works in various media that are in very good to excellent condition. Donations of works of art will be accepted without limitations or conditions placed on the Library by the donor or artist unless those limitations or conditions are approved by the Board of Trustees. In addition, the Board will take into account the significance of artwork as it relates to the library's presence within the community. The art should be appropriate in scale, material, form and content for the public library environment.

Other Considerations

The decision to accept artwork for display in the Library rests entirely with the Board of Trustees. The Library, in its sole discretion, will determine whether to review and accept or reject any donation or proposed artwork.

Donors who wish to receive a tax credit are responsible for getting an appraisal. By law, the Library cannot provide value estimates on gift material.

Statement on New Facility

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to postpone any review of art or gifts for installation in the new library facility until a time it deems appropriate. The Board understands that these types of gifts can only be fully assessed once the Board and staff re-establish library services; understand service and traffic flows; assess lighting and space constraints; and allow for growth of landscaping shrubs and trees (for outdoor sculpture).

Meeting Room Policy

Library Mission

The mission of the Central Skagit Library District is to bring people, information, and ideas together to enrich, empower, and engage our community. In keeping with this mission, we follow best practices and standard procedures to provide safe, welcoming meeting spaces for library programs and other eligible uses.

Scope

This policy applies to all meeting rooms managed by Central Skagit Library District and all staff, individuals and groups who use them. As part of its service to the community, the Central Skagit Library District (CSLD) provides meeting rooms for use by community groups and organizations. This policy ensures that CSLD meeting rooms are available for gatherings, the primary purpose or nature of which is civic, cultural, educational and/or of community-interest. Meeting room use will not be denied to any person or organization because of gender, gender preference or orientation, race, creed or color.

Definitions

Commercial use: Meeting room use by groups or individuals that receive a commercial benefit. This includes selling products or services, active solicitation of donations, fundraising activities, charging admission fees, offering money-making activities, holding sales, training or staff meetings for a for-profit organization, or promoting a commercial business.

Library use: Meeting room use by the library. Library has the discretion to charge entrance fees or allow fundraising or sales of products. Includes library programs and activities open to the public, public programs co-sponsored with other organizations, and staff meetings, training sessions and other invitation-only uses that may not be open to the public.

Non-commercial use: Uses by not-for-profit groups receiving no commercial benefit by using a library meeting room, including non-profit and governmental organizations. Meetings or programs must not require payment to enter, but passive solicitation of paid memberships or donations is acceptable. Meetings or programs may or may not be open to the public.

Private events: Groups or individuals gathering for private or personal purposes, such as birthday parties, weddings, memorial services, baby showers and similar events.

Sales: Any wholesale, retail, service or similar activity that could result in the exchange of money or offer monetary gain to the person(s) distributing the product or service.

Solicitation: The act of requesting money, credit, goods or merchandise for any purposes.

Policy

1. Library follows best practices and standard procedures to provide safe, welcoming meeting rooms for library and other uses.

- Failure to comply with the conditions of use and the Patron Code of Conduct will result in withdrawal of room reservation privileges.
- The CSLD Board of Trustees delegates to the Library Director or his/her designee the authority to develop and implement procedures and practices that carry out the provisions of this policy. If permission for the use of the meeting room is denied, the applicant may appeal to the Head of Public Services. If that appeal is denied and the applicant is dissatisfied with the reasons offered, the applicant may appeal to the Library Director.
- Library Director or designee identifies uses for all library meeting rooms and gathering spaces.
- Any requests for use of library spaces are considered according to equitable procedures, regardless of the beliefs, affiliations or viewpoints of the groups or individuals requesting their use.

2. Library offers meeting rooms for use by community groups free of charge for non-commercial uses.

- As an extension of its mission, the Library offers use of designated meeting rooms for non-commercial informational, cultural, community or civic meetings and programs.
- Meeting rooms are not available for commercial uses.
- No products or services may be advertised, solicited or sold, with the exception of books and other resources sold at library-sponsored or related events.
- Fees to cover the cost of study materials used in classes, workshops, conferences and similar events can be collected by non-profit and governmental organizations; however, the purchase of study materials may not be a requirement for attendance and/or registration. Permission must be obtained in advance through the local library management.
- Meeting rooms are not available for personal or private uses.
- All meetings must be open to the public at no charge and may not be restricted to any particular group.
- In accordance with the Washington State Constitution, meeting rooms are not available for religious worship services.

- Completed registration is required for all meeting room uses, including a signed agreement that the user will abide by all applicable library policies, and state law.

3. Library does not endorse the activities or viewpoints of those using its meeting rooms.

- Publicity for any meetings held in library spaces that are not hosted by the library shall clearly state the organization responsible for the event and shall note that the library does not endorse the activities or viewpoints of the user. Any publicity of a meeting or event being held in a library meeting room must identify the sponsoring organization.
- Any publicity of a meeting or event being held in a library meeting room must identify the sponsoring organization and must include the Disclaimer Statement.

4. Library Board reviews this policy.

- This policy is periodically reviewed, revised, or reaffirmed by the Library Board of Trustees.

5. Conditions for Use

- The Library reserves the right to limit excessive meeting room if conflicts arise with other groups in order to make access to the meeting rooms fair and equitable. CSLD may limit meeting room use for particular organizations if abuse or non-compliance is detected, or if similar types of organizations are using rooms with such frequency that equitable use is in question.
- Reservations must be requested at least three business days in advance of requested date of use. Weekends, library holidays and days of scheduled or emergency library closures are not considered business days for purposes of library meeting room reservations and use.
- Users are required to register and agree to Meeting Room Policy, and Library Code of Conduct prior to approval of request and use of meeting room.

- Reservations are not final until notice is provided by the library that a reservation request has been confirmed.
- Prior use of meeting rooms does not entitle or guarantee future use.

- The person who registers must be age 18 or older. At least one adult age 18 or older must be present when youth groups use the meeting rooms at all times.
- Individuals or groups providing false or misleading information to reserve meeting rooms will be considered in violation of the Meeting Room Policy.
- Out of courtesy to the library and other users, users who find they must cancel a reservation should notify the library as soon as possible.
